Section B (Short)	75.8%

Performance Summary

Strengths

- Perfect MCQs (8th consecutive) — no knowledge gaps at recall level.
- Chloroplast vs Mitochondria (Q.2(iv)) — full structural and functional comparison.
- Mitosis stages (Q.2(v)) and Meiosis Prophase I (Q.2(vi)) — correct and complete.
- Enzyme activity (Q.3(iv)) — 5/5; temperature, substrate concentration, denaturation, saturation all precisely covered.
- When content is written, it is almost always factually correct.

Areas to Address

- 7 of 10.5 marks lost from stopping before all sub-parts (Laveran, homeostasis sequence, pentose sugars, root functions, polysaccharides, energy comparison).
- Homeostasis (Q.2(vii)): only definition given; full stimulus→negative-feedback chain missing (−2).
- Nucleotide pentose sugars (Q.2(x)): components named but deoxyribose/ribose not identified (−2).
- Factual errors in 3(i): animals are consumers; vertebrates have a backbone.

Key Message: 6th Consecutive Exam with the Same Pattern

Seemab consistently starts questions correctly but stops before completing every required sub-part. Recommended practice: read the question, mentally list every sub-part, tick each off before moving on. This habit alone would likely recover 6-8 marks per paper.
