Bio exam-01 (3 Apr)

MCQ Record: 155/156 (99.4%) — 12-exam consecutive perfect streak active. Every single exam across all four subjects has returned 12/12 on MCQs except Biology exam-01 (11/12 on the very first attempt back in April). Since then: eleven consecutive perfect MCQ scores. Math exam-04 MCQ was confirmed 12/12 after re-examination of higher-quality screenshots; the earlier bubble misread that indicated 5/12 has been corrected. The MCQ streak has never been broken.

Highlighted row = today's corrected attempt. Green rows = perfect 65/65. Correction from v11: exam #12 MCQ 5/12 was a scan misread; correct is 12/12. Total 51/65 (B+) was wrong; correct is 57/65 (A).

Subject Averages (all attempts)

Physics: (97.7 + 95.4 + 100) / 3 = 98.3%. | Chemistry: (98.5 + 91.5 + 88.5) / 3 = 92.8%. | Math: (100 + 93.1 + 87.7) / 3 = 93.6% (up from the incorrect 90.5% in v11). | Biology: best attempt per paper — 80.0% (exam-01) + 100% (exam-02 re-sit) = 90.0% average. | *Bio average uses best attempt per paper.

Strengths and Patterns

Consistent strengths

- MCQ mastery: 155/156 (99.4%) overall; 11 consecutive perfect 12/12 scores since Bio-01
- Section C (long questions): averages above 90% across all exams
- Three perfect 65/65 scores across three different subjects
- Algebraic manipulation: substitution factoring, HCF of three polynomials
- Algebraic fractions: sign-change handling, simplification, cancellation
- Mass-mole interconversions (Chemistry — fully automatic)
- Enzyme inhibition and metabolism mechanisms (Biology)
- Pressure, Hooke's law, Pascal's principle (Physics)

Recurring weakness patterns

- Sum-of-cubes formula precision (Math): middle term $-ab$ gets doubled to $-2ab$; two occurrences now across exam-03 and exam-04 adjacent questions
- Sophie Germain identity completion (Math): sets up the difference-of-squares but does not apply it; pattern to watch
- Sign discipline in bracket expansion (Math): $-k(a-b)$ sign errors recurred in exam-04
- LCM of three trinomials (Math): middle-term split for negative constant consistently incomplete
- Ionic notation (Chemistry): charges and state symbols still missing in equations across multiple exams
- Atom count chain (Chemistry): mass to moles to atoms — molar mass reused in step 2 (must not be)

Trajectory note for parents: After correcting the bubble misread, the overall average for 12 exams is 88.7% (up from the erroneously computed 87.9% in v11). Math subject average rises to 93.6% — third strongest behind Physics (98.3%) and Chemistry (92.8%). The 87.7% on today's Ch4 paper is a genuine Grade A result; the gap to 93% is entirely in Section B formula precision, particularly the sum-of-cubes middle term and sign discipline during expansion. Both are learnable with targeted drills. Physics remains the standout subject; Seemab has not dropped below 95% in any Physics exam.
